[1.] Defeat the Terrorists and Neutralize the Insurgency

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Operation Koa Canyon:

- Operation Koa Canyon, a combined Iraqi army and coalition force operation, began last Sunday in the western Euphrates River Valley of Al Anbar Province. The operation's aim is to defeat the insurgency between the Jubbah/Khamal region and the city of Hit.

Coalition and Iraqi Forces Operations Review:

- Attacks across Iraq were down 40 percent last week. In total, there were 386 attacks throughout the country, down from 582 the week before. Of those attacks, about 90 resulted in a casualty. In Baghdad, there was an 80 percent reduction in the number of attacks for the same period.
- Forces are conducting cordon and search operations and searching areas of interest for weapons and insurgent activity along the Euphrates River Valley. In the Khamal area, Iraq police are working with Iraq army and coalition forces to conduct security operations, targeting the flow of money and foreign fighters coming into Iraq from Syria, an important pipeline for al Qaeda to transit suicide bombers to Baghdad.

[2.] Transition to Security Self-Reliance – Iraqi Security Forces

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Commandos Find New Stomping Ground In Ramadi:

- The 2nd Brigade of the Iraqi Special Police Commandos are taking the fight against insurgents to Ramadi, deploying earlier this month from Baghdad at the request of Coalition forces. The Freedom Brigade – formerly known as the Wolf Brigade – got its start as a self-formed unit designed to fight and arrest terrorists in Iraq after Coalition forces arrived in 2003.

Institute Continues Critical Training:

- Nearly 600 newly trained Iraqi Army leaders in the fields of support and logistics are taking critical skills to the front lines, and the institution that trained them is continuing to expand. Supervisor-level courses include logistics, transport, maintenance, supply, administration and medical fields. Students are awarded certificates as part of the largest graduation of the Iraqi Army Service and Support Institute at Taji Military Training Base.

IECI Elections Announcement:

- The Independent Electoral Commission of Iraq announced the uncertified results of the December 15 2005 Council of Representatives election. The final certified result will be announced as soon as the political entities and the coalitions who have won compensatory and national seats submit lists of names of their candidates to occupy these seats and appeals are adjudicated.

Uncertified Results:

- Of 275 seats in the Council of Representatives, the United Iraqi Alliance won 128 seats in the December 15 election, 10 votes short of an absolute majority. The Kurdish bloc of candidates was second with 53, based on final, uncertified results. Two separate Sunni blocs garnered 44 and 11 seats in the election. Two smaller Sunni Arab affiliated groups won four seats. The tallies suggest that more Sunnis took part in the December vote after boycotting earlier elections. Election officials said votes from 296 ballot boxes throughout the country were excluded from the total due to irregularities and that 12,396,631 voters cast ballots.

[4.] Help Iraq Build Government Capacity and Provide Essential Services – Electricity Overview

Daily Electricity Supplied and Estimated Demand in Iraq Since January 2004

- Electricity availability in Baghdad remained critically low, despite a slight improvement in the last week (January 17-23) to an average of 4.4 hours per day. The low availability continues primarily due to interdictions of critical transmission lines and poor performance by Baghdad area power plants.
- Nationwide average electricity availability was 9.4 hours per day.
- Despite the decreased levels, electricity output for the month of January is on average 13 percent higher than it was a year ago.

[4.] Help Iraq Build Government Capacity and Provide Essential Services –Water, Sanitation and Education

Water and Sanitation:

- On January 14, an Iraqi construction company completed construction on a USG funded $104,000 Water Treatment Plant project in Lutifiya, Baghdad Province. This project will benefit more than 100,000 residents in this district.
- In partnership with UNICEF, USAID is working to restore bathrooms, drinking fountains, and other facilities at schools across Iraq. Water and sanitation facilities at 439 schools have been rehabilitated. An additional 224 school renovations are in progress, while a further 102 schools are currently in the bidding and solicitation process.

Education:

- Over 300 teachers will receive instruction in modern teaching methods. These 300 instructors, trained by USAID partners, will provide pedagogy training to at least 18,000 teachers throughout Iraq.
- Over 14,000 students have enrolled in the 2005/06 Accelerated Learning Program (ALP). A total of 148 schools have opened ALP classes throughout the southern and central provinces. The training of ALP school teachers in nine provinces was completed last month, bringing instruction to 730 teachers. Printing of the 52 Arabic titles of ALP textbooks has been completed; Kurdish versions are being printed with cooperation from the Department of Kurdish Studies within the Ministry of Education.

[4.] Help Iraq Build Government Capacity and Provide Essential Services – Public Health, Healthcare and Transportation

Public Health and Healthcare:

- Four of the completed five USG-funded primary healthcare centers (PHCs) have been handed over to the Ministry of Health, while the fifth is expected to be transferred next week. A sixth PHC is 90 percent complete. Once open for patient care, these PHCs will improve health care access for approximately 100,000 people in remote and underserved areas. UNICEF and USAID provided equipment for the PHCs to include vision testing charts, examination lights and tables, labor/delivery beds, obstetric surgical kits and Doppler fetal heart detectors.
- With support from UNICEF and USG funding, the Ministry of Health is providing outreach and training on Phase II of the Infant and Young Child Feeding (IYCF) Strategy. The IYCF Strategy is a guide for prevention and management of undernourishment in infants and children. Training is underway in Baghdad and southern governates, while preparations for the northern governates include printing the IYCF Strategy in Kurdish.

[5.] Help Iraq Strengthen Its Economy

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

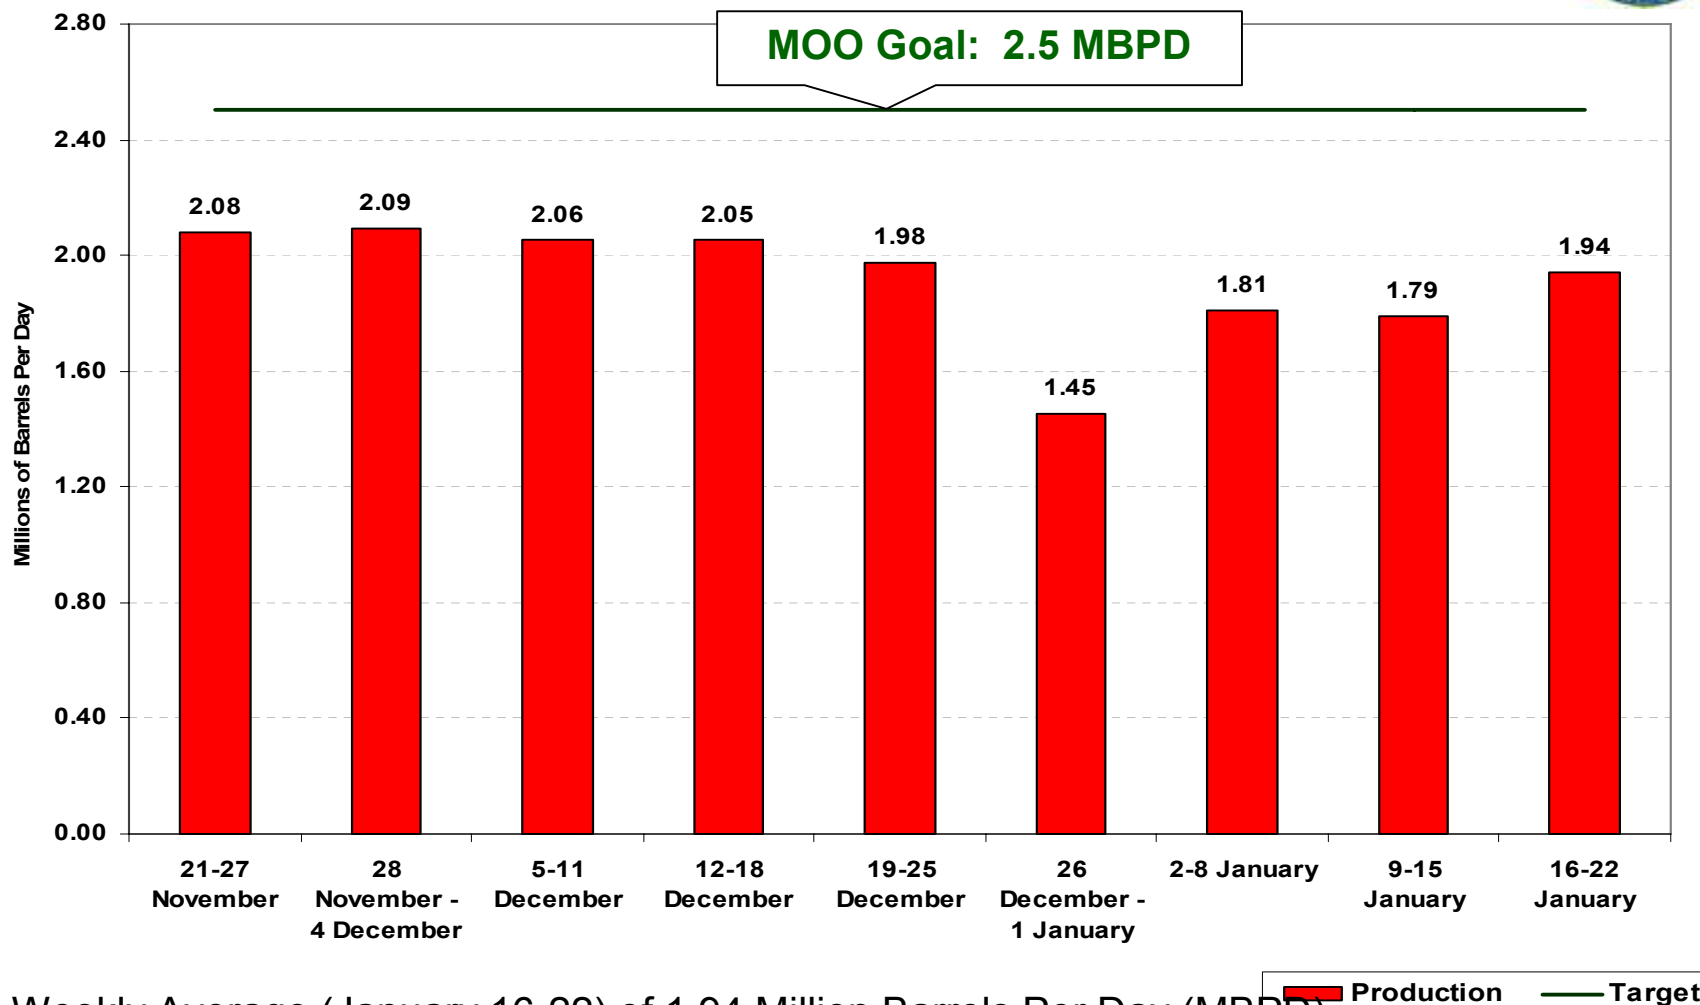

The Netherlands Cancels 80 Percent of its Iraqi Debt:

- The Government of Iraq announced on January 23 it had signed a bilateral agreement with the Netherlands canceling the equivalent of $256 million of Iraqi debt, amounting to 80 percent of the Netherlands' claims against Iraq.
- Prior to this agreement, the claims of the Dutch government against Iraq totaled approximately $320 million. When fully phased in, the agreement signed today will reduce this debt stock to approximately $64 million.
- The UK also signed a similar bilateral agreement late last week, which has been sent to the Iraqis for official signing on January 25.

Iraq Successfully Concludes Commercial Debt Exchange:

- The Ministry of Finance restructured $14 billion worth of commercial claims (about 60 percent of total commercial debt) as $2.7 billion of new sovereign bonds (technically Eurobonds), which mature in 2028 and carry a coupon of 5.8 percent. Formal trading begins January 26, but in the last week the bonds, which had traded on the gray market between 10.75 to 11 percent, dropped to 9.87 percent (comparable with Ecuador) indicating that the market has strong interest. Iraq Finance Minister Allawi, however, does not expect Iraq to borrow regularly from the international bond market until at least 2008.

NATO trainers have been working in Iraq since August 2004, as part of the Alliance's support for the development of the country's security institutions.

Italian Minister of Defense Announces Troop Change for Iraq:

[8.] Strengthen Public Understanding of Coalition Efforts and Public Isolation of the Insurgents – Developments

Strategic Communications:

- President Bush, during remarks to Kansas State University on January 23, affirmed that the coalition strategy will yield victory in Iraq. “[T]he definition of success, by the way, is for there to be a country where the terrorists and Saddamists can no longer threaten the democracy, and where Iraqi security forces can provide for the security of their people, and where Iraq is not a safe haven from which the terrorists -- al Qaeda and its affiliates -- can plot attacks against America. We got a strategy, and I'm going to keep talking about the strategy -- it will yield a victory.”
- Vice President Cheney emphasized during his remarks at the Manhattan Institute for Policy Research on January 19 that “our strategy in Iraq is clear, and our tactics will remain flexible.” Our military efforts “are bringing us closer to the goal we share with Iraq's leaders: a democratic country that can defend itself; a nation that will never again be a safe zone for terrorists; and a model for peaceful democratic reform in a troubled region. When that goal is achieved, all of us will live in a safer world. Our strategy in Iraq is clear, our tactics will remain flexible; we'll keep at the work until we finish the job. Progress has not come easily, but it has been steady.”

[8.] Strengthen Public Understanding of Coalition Efforts and Public Isolation of the Insurgents – Developments

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Strategic Communications:

- Ambassador David Litt, Political-Military Counselor at US Embassy, Iraq noted on MSNBC's "Live" on January 21 that the Sunni participation in forming an Iraqi government is a 'very positive step.' "We think that the Sunni participation in forming a future government is a very, very positive step. I think it's an indication to the Iraqis in general, to the Sunni-Arabs, in particular who came out to vote in huge numbers that...political participation is the best way for them to realize their interests and their goals in the new Iraq."
- Major General Thomas Turner, the Commander of Multinational Division North and the 101st Airborne Assault Division stressed that "Iraqi soldiers and policemen are in the fight every day," during the Pentagon Press Briefing on January 20. "These units have made tremendous progress in their training and the ability to provide the citizens of Iraq the security they deserve. Iraqi soldiers and policemen are in the fight every day. They're risking not only their lives, but often the lives of their families for the security of their fellow citizens. Iraqi citizens are also stepping forward in the fight to secure their country. Tips from concerned Iraqis to both Iraqi security forces and coalition forces have led to the discovery of numerous weapons caches and IED-making materials. ... Working together, we will support the continued progress toward a democratic Iraq."

- The chart shows average daily power production in megawatt hours (MWh). 120,000 MWh goal equates to 20 hours at 6000 MW average supplied load or 24 hours at 5000 MW average supply load. Currently supplies are not much improved over last year when judged by hours of power, but this is due in part to an influx of new appliances. This has dramatically altered demand and diluted the effect of increased generation capacity on actual results.

- Iraq Petroleum Sector Facts
- There are three main refineries in Iraq: Bayji (North), Daura (Baghdad), and Basra (South).
- There are several minor refineries (known as topping plants) dotted through the country: Kisik (Mosul), Qarrayah, Haditha, Tikrit, Nassiriyah, Maysan (Amarah), and Samawah. These primarily produce asphalt and low grade kerosene and diesel.
- The majority of Iraq's oil infrastructure is antiquated and in need of modernization.
- Domestically produced refined products (gasoline/benzene, diesel, kerosene, LPG) currently do not meet domestic demand because of sabotage to the pipeline infrastructure. Iraq will be dependent upon imports until the insurgents cease operations against oil pipelines.
